THE emperor of Russia is indisposed, according to a cable dispatch received at noon to-day.

RAILWAY bonds and stocks were strong, active and buoyant in New York to-day, with a general advance ranging from 1 to 4 per cent.

YOUNG and Butterworth, republicans, have been elected to congress from Hamilton county, Ohio, each by about 1200 majority. Hamilton county gave the republican state and county ticket from 2537 to 3724 majority.

SOME was correspondent of the Avalanche says:

Is the convention to be authorized to make a final adjustment of the debt without referring its action back for the approval or rejection of the people?

Was a constitution or an amendment to one ever made by a convention, and not submitted to the people? If so, when and where?

HON. A. A. TAYLOR has good cause to think well of West Tennessee and especially of Haywood county. On his late visit there his republican friends made him a present of a splendid saddle mare, which recently took the premium at the Jackson fair. The donors told him that the people of East Tennessee had generally to move from place to place on horseback or on foot, and that they desired their eloquent representative to both ride and run well. As Mr. Taylor could not reach his appointments in West and Middle Tennessee on horseback, the animal was shipped to Johnson's city.

THE news from Ohio and Indiana is not the most encouraging, still it might have been worse, because the republicans might have carried both states unanimously. If this was their aim, as now seems probable, they failed gloriously. The fact is we had no idea of carrying Ohio now. The republican candidate for governor in Ohio was elected in 1873 by a majority of 17,129. In 1876 the state voted for Tilden 323,182; for Hayes 330,698 a majority of 7516 for Hayes. The news is very meagre to-day, and what there is we have not read very carefully. It fails to interest, somehow. In a day or two we may hear how much the republican majority is in Ohio, and whether we have carried Indiana or not. West Virginia is understood to be all right. Really we suppose Ohio has gone republican, as usual, and Indiana possibly democratic by no great majority. Later news may come before we go to press.

In reply to inquiries from East Tennessee friends we will state that Mr. Wilson is filling the regular list of appointments agreed upon by the high and low tax and the greenback executive committees, at Nashville, on the 25th of August. The list ahead appears from day to day in the LEDGER. Judge Wright was withdrawn by order of his committee at the end of the canvass in West Tennessee and is in more congenial company, as he and Judge Hawkins do not differ materially in regard to the state debt question. Colonel Edwards, the genial and entertaining old greenbacker, still accompanies Mr. Wilson and speaks when he is able. The people are giving Wilson grand receptions at every point. He has had a triumphant march from the Mississippi river to the mountains. No man ever so stirred the hearts of the sturdy yeomanry of the country. They are flocking to his standard by the thousands, and unless the segment of a party that supports Wright go over to Hawkins by the wholesale, Wilson will be elected by a splendid majority.

Election Returns.
CLEVELAND, OHIO, October 13.—Completes returns from Cuyahoga county give Charles Townsend for secretary of state, 4051 majority; McIlvane for supreme judge, 5083 majority; and Ames Townsend for congress, 5259 majority.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 13.—The following editorials are from the late editions of the morning papers: Sentinel (dem.), late at 5 o'clock this a. m.: "There are still over 1000 voting precincts to hear from. In the 245 precincts reported the republicans are claiming the state by 5,000 majority, but the returns do not show it, and we hope that when the remaining precincts are heard from that Mr. Landers' election will be secured by a small majority."

Journal (rep.): "The returns from the Indiana election come in very slowly. The ticket is very long and most of the precincts in the cities are very large, so that reports received at this hour are confined mainly to the smaller county precincts."

A dispatch at 9:35 a. m. says: Few if any of the cities will be heard from before to-morrow morning. The returns received indicate steady gains for Porter, which if continued throughout the state at the same ratio would elect him by about 3,000 majority. We expect, however, to hear of republican gains in the large cities, especially in those manufacturing cities where the tariff question assumed the proportions of a leading issue. From the outlook at this hour, we do not see that it is possible to compass the following returns, which have been received this forenoon:

VOL. XXXI.

St. Joseph county complete, Porter, republican, 240.
INDIANAPOLIS, October 13.—The returns from four hundred precincts show democratic gains of 1,032, and republican gains of 4,146, a net republican gain of 1,405 in the city of Madison and Jefferson county.

Latest from Indiana.
INDIANAPOLIS, October 13, 12 m.—Returns from 420 voting precincts give a democratic vote of 68,760; republican, 74,347; national, 3712. The same places in 1876 gave the democrats 63,150; republicans, 63,048; national, 3501. Net republican gain on the vote of 1876, 3648. The republicans now claim the state by seven thousand majority. Carroll county complete gave a democratic majority of 77, democratic loss 79. Later returns from the First congressional district indicate a very close vote and both parties are claiming the election of their candidate.

BY CABLE.

LONDON, October 13.—At a meeting of the council of the Royal Geographical Society, Lord Alarid presiding, a deputation of the Arctic committee was in attendance to ask the society to support Commodore Cheyne's scheme for an Arctic expedition. Commodore Cheyne said it was due to England to take the lead in Arctic explorations; he dwelt on the steps American were taking, and expressed himself content to share in the American expedition now being sent out. Lord Alarid promised that if a written statement in regard to the details of the expedition was laid before the council, the statement would be submitted to a competent body. To this the deputation agreed.

Only three thousand Montenegrins are now camped at Sutorina. The Montenegrins have already begun to discuss the harbor administration of Dulcigno. A correspondent at Paris says: Minister Constant states that as soon as official notification of the session of Dulcigno is received the French ships will be recalled immediately. The Montenegrin general will go to Dulcigno to-day to take command.

Large reinforcements for the Russian Tschukotka expedition are expected at Tschukotka.

LONDON, October 13.—The steamship Lowm from Boston and Walden from Montreal have arrived. It is roughly estimated that the bank of France within the last three or four days has parted with two million pounds of gold. This amount may be found available for export to the United States.

The Weather.
WASHINGTON, October 13.—The weather indications for to-day are as follows: For the Tennessee and Ohio valleys easterly to southerly winds, slight rise in temperature, partly cloudy weather, and in western portions local rains. For upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys: slightly warmer, southerly and south-west winds, falling barometer, increasing cloudiness and areas of rain.

THE FRANKLIN SEARCH.
Lieutenant Schwatka's Narrative—The Cold Weather encountered and Comfortably Endured.

N. Y. Tribune: Lieutenant Schwatka's report to the American geographical society, on the Franklin search expedition, which will be read at a meeting of the society October 23, is a succinct narrative of the work of the expedition, the salient features of which have already appeared in the Tribune. The closing sentences of the report are as follows: "The expedition is the longest and journey ever made, both in regard to time and distance, it having been absent from its base eleven months and twenty days, and having traversed 2519 geographical or 3251 statute miles. It is the first sled journey conducted through the heart of an Arctic winter, and a winter pronounced exceptionally severe by the Esquimaux themselves. Not but that a number of sled journeys have been undertaken by white men in the Arctic midwinter, but I know of none before this encompassing the whole duration of the most unfavorable months of that season. In fact, those expeditions have been generally very short, and have been undertaken under circumstances where comfort commensurate with the exposure could be easily obtained. 'The expedition endured the coldest temperatures ever recorded by white men in the field, not only for a single observation, —71° F. (January 3, 1880), but also in protracted cold, there having been no less than sixteen days of which the average temperature was 100° below the freezing point, and twenty-seven days when the thermometer stood —60° F. during nearly all of which weather the party prosecuted its journey without severe frost bites, and even in comparative comfort. It is the first Arctic expedition whose sole reliance for the subsistence of itself and its draft animals has been placed in the game of the locality, and whose experience in that respect has extended continuously over every month of the year. It having started with less than one month's fall rations."

LIVING AS THE NATIVES DO.
It was the first Arctic expedition in which the white men of the party lived on the same diet as the natives, which shows that they can not only live the same as the Esquimaux in the Arctic regions, and with equal comfort, but can also prosecute any project that their superior intelligence may dictate or their ambition desire. And it might be added that the prosecution of its schemes was not limited to such particularly favorable seasons of the year as the experience of most Arctic expeditions would lead one to infer. In its searches the party was the first to make an extended summer's exploration over the ground covered by the unfortunate crews in their deplorable endeavors to reach aid, although a glance at the map will show that their base was in a far less favorable position for such an undertaking than that of the majority of the numerous searches previously made. It performed the last sad rites for the remains of the lost crews, owing mainly to the favorable circumstance of a summer's sojourn in the place, the thoroughness of the search and the conspicuous contrast of the bleaching bones in the brown clay stones composing the flat coasts of King William's Land and the adjoining mainland. I do not hesitate to state that not a single unburied man of Franklin's unfortunate expedition probably exists. Where nature had not anticipated my party (which she had done in the majority of cases of the men known to have abandoned the ship) or the melting crews themselves had not performed the burial, my party completed these and other duties. From the incompleteness of the skeletons, their inextinguishable confusion and widely scattered condition, it is hard to place a close estimate upon the number interred, which, roughly speaking, varies from twenty to forty.
